

May 2014:

Daytime highs averaged slightly below normal while overnight lows averaged around normal values for May. Accordingly, accumulated base 10 °C growing degree days were slightly below normal for the month. Season accumulated growing degree days remained below normal and continued to lag behind 2012 and 2013 values. May rainfall averaged 146 % of normal across the appellation. Areas received 50 – 70 mm of rain over May 12 to May 15.

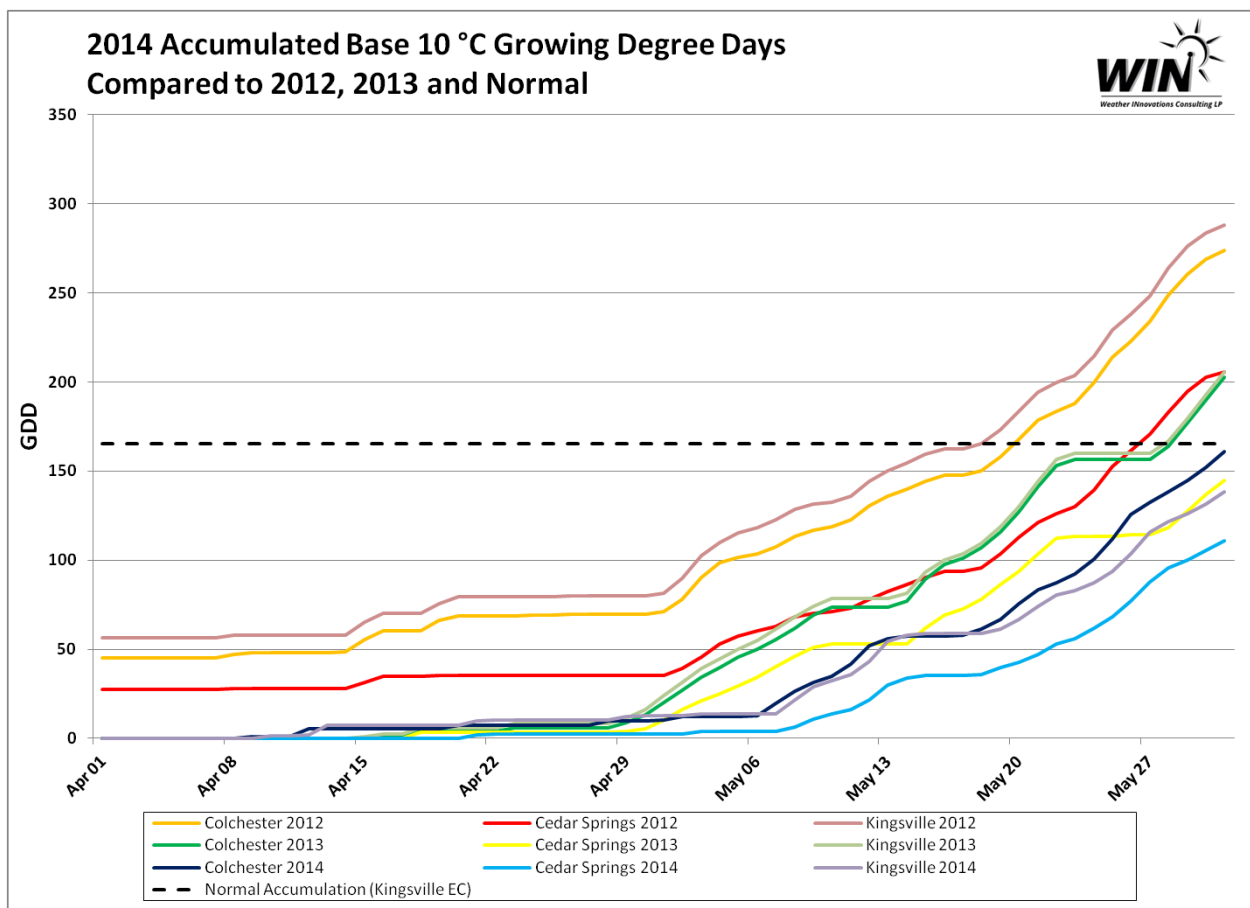

Figure 1: Growing Degree Days

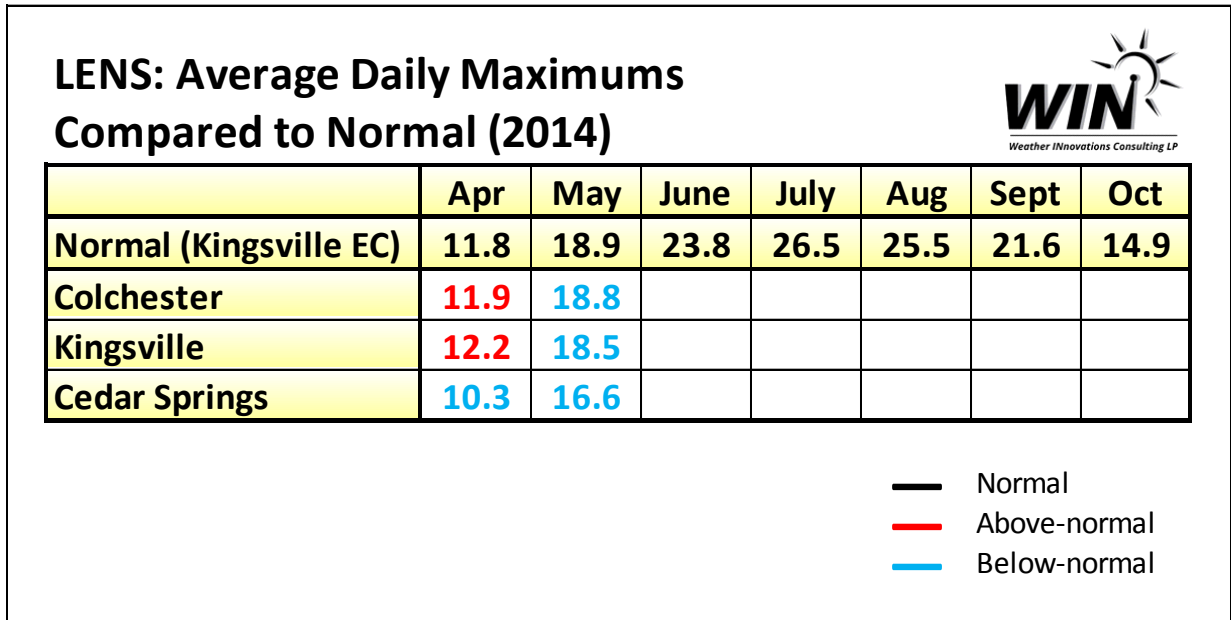

Figure 2: Maximum Temperatures

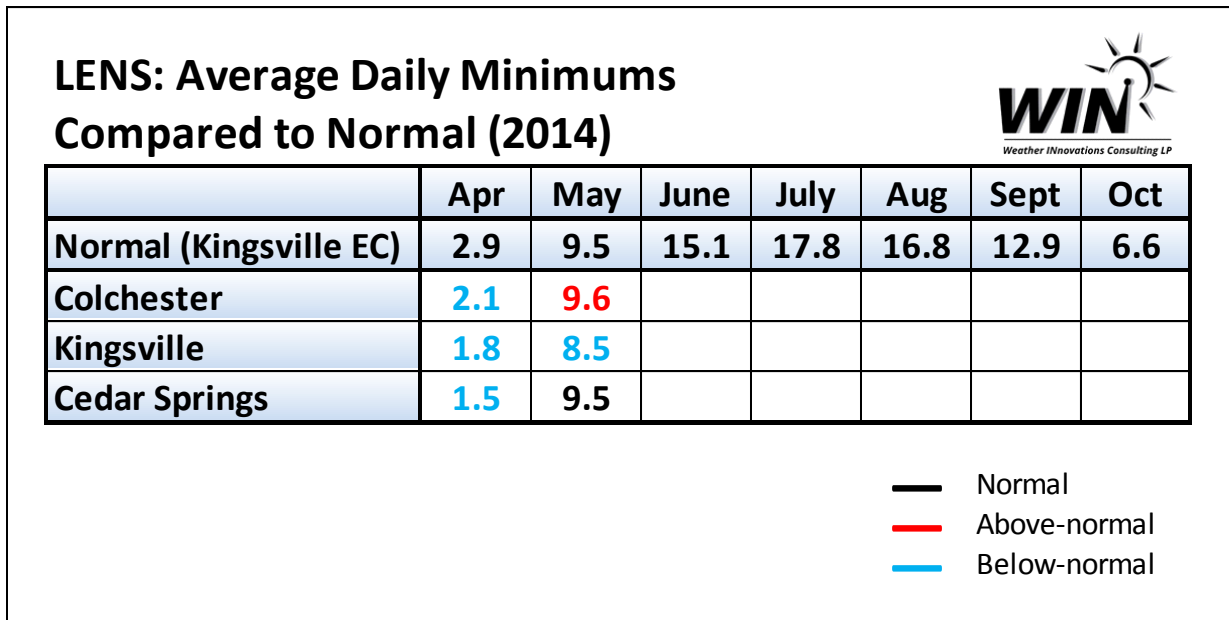

Figure 3: Minimum Temperatures

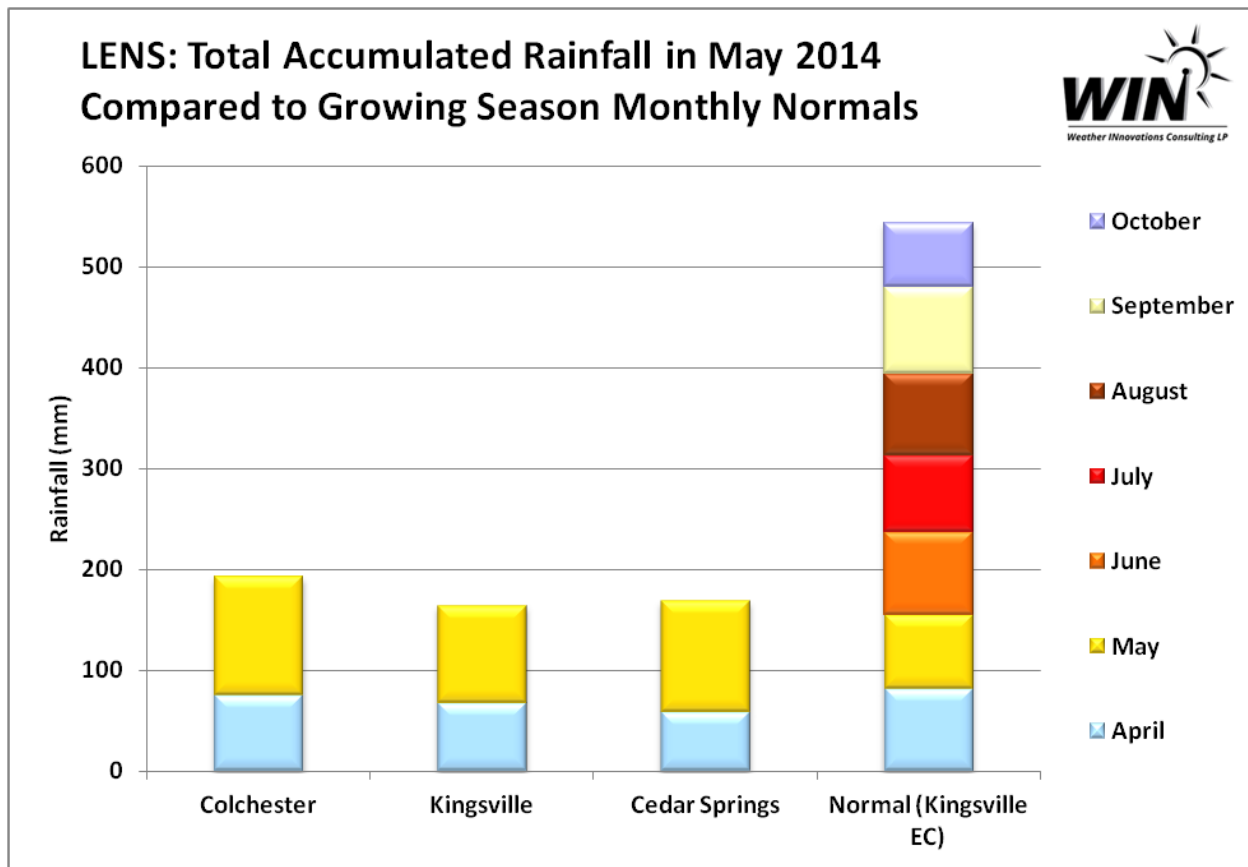

Figure 4: Rainfall